FOR REFERENCE

Do Not Take From This Room

DENCO

*Oh Westwood,
What thanks shall we offer
for the wealth
you have given us?*

*Hopefully we came to you.
Skeptically, we entered your classrooms, but eagerly we learned.
Gradually, you became a part of our lives*

*And now amid tears of joy and sorrow,
thanks and regrets,
Hesitantly, we leave you with fond memories of yesterday*

*and a bright shining hope for tomorrow.
In return for an education
we filled your halls with vitality.
You gave us Chaucer, Dickens, Shakespeare;*

*You gave us the Twist,
the Monkey,
the Beatles.
Your personality has many faces.*

*Beneath one roof, we have eaten . . . studied . . .
danced .*

The same walls which so often housed victory

*have also witnessed our skills and our happiness
You have answered our questions,
guided our footsteps,
filled our needs.*

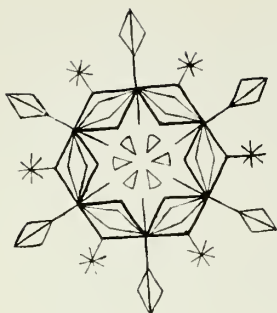

*With a smile,
surprise
an earnest glance
You have written another chapter into our book.*

*Tomorrow,
we may look back proudly
on a day,
a year,
an era.
But today, our long journey
comes to rest*

Friend

Mr. Richard Stack

We, the class of 1964, dedicate our yearbook to a teacher who has been a loyal friend and advisor during our high school days.

Mr. Stack, you have sacrificed many hours of your time for us in the past five years. Yet these few instances are hardly representative of the sincere interest you have shown in our class.

For your friendship, guidance, enthusiasm, inspiration, and many other smaller, often-forgotten things, we thank you most sincerely.

Continue Your Efforts for

PRINCIPAL

To the Class of '64:

Your yearbook is a cherishable memento of an eventful year—or four years. During that time you have all made significant strides in your own development.
We urge you to continue your efforts always toward a better self and a better human world aimed at the realization of freedom, justice,
and true progress.

English Department

Acquiring Proficiency in Our Native Tongue

ENGLISH

The English Department has been instrumental in guiding our choice of reading of all types: novels, plays, essays, and poetry, and has given us valuable knowledge in the mechanics of both the written and spoken language, in addition to providing excellent college preparation.

An interesting lecture.

An enlightening group discussion.

Enlarging Our Capacities...

MATHEMATICS

Under the guidance of various mathematics teachers, students here at W.H.S. have received a solid foundation in algebra, geometry, trigonometry, calculus, and advanced math. The Math Department sponsors a math team and this year, for the second time, conducted a course in computer math.

Teaching Methods Modernized

LANGUAGES

Westwood High's Language Department includes Latin, French, and Spanish. Although each strives to teach the basic grammar and writing techniques, in modern languages especially, much emphasis is placed on oral communications.

SOCIAL STUDIES

One of the largest departments in the school, the Social Studies Department conducts classes in Economics, History (both U.S. and foreign), Problems of Democracy, and Civics. This year a new Advanced Placement course in Western Civilization was introduced which gives college credit.

BUSINESS

The Business Department has been essential in preparing students for careers in business and for more advanced study at business colleges. In addition to the usual curriculum, a special course is offered in typing and notehand, which is very helpful to the college preparatory student.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Participation in sports, group activities and individual achievement outline the course of this department. Also, there is the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the rules and basic skills behind many popular sports.

ART

In addition to providing many students with hours of enjoyment and personal gratification, the Art Department gives an excellent preparation to those students who may wish to continue in their studies, or make art their career.

Mr. Wellsman
Art Supervisor

Art researchers find assistance in the library.

MUSIC

Westwood offers many music courses, including Glee Clubs, Chorus, Band, Orchestra, Dance Band and Double Quartet, which not only give much pleasure to the participants, but also teach the fundamentals of music. A course in Music Appreciation is offered for interested students.

Mr. Markarian
Music Supervisor

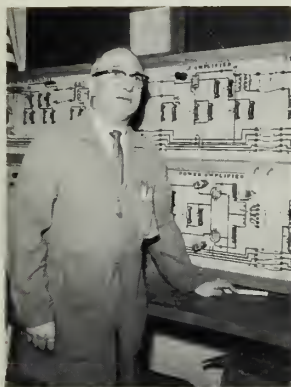

Mr. Monaghan

LIBRARY

Our librorion, Mrs. Bradley, has proved both an able and willing aid, whether it be in getting books for research material or just reading for personal enjoyment. She is advisor to the Library Club in addition.

Mrs. Bradley
Librarian

Mr. Chicetti
Head of Industrial Arts Department

INDUSTRIAL ART

Boys interested in a technical career have found this department gives excellent preparation. Here they are taught the proper use of related equipment and the fundamentals of the course.

HOME ECONOMICS

This department conducts classes in cooking, sewing, home management and family relations which prove invaluable to girls preparing for careers in Home Economics or for a future as a successful homemaker.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Open to Juniors and Seniors, this course is of value to all future drivers because it not only teaches driving skills, but also imparts a working knowledge of "defensive driving" and the motor laws through classroom instruction, conducted by Mr. Lyman.

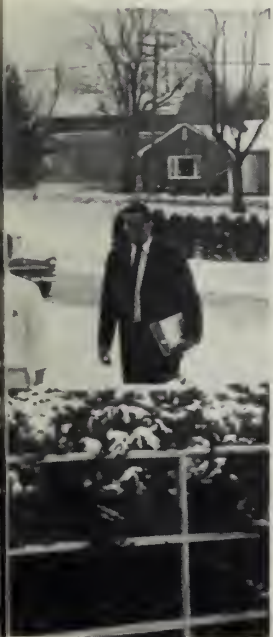

SENIORS

Now that our graduation day has arrived we are finally able to look back upon our high school years with mixed emotions. For these were good years, filled with fun and achievement and hard work, but well worth every effort.

And now, realizing that all this has come to end, we look forward to a new beginning and a bright future.

LOOKING BACK . . .

CLASS HISTORY

September, 1960—As the nation focused its attention on Gallup Polls, TV debates, payola, and Metrecal, we, as freshmen, were enjoying the prestige of being upperclassmen at Westwood Junior High School. In October, we held a class fair, which was a huge financial success, due to some very lucrative, if not legal gambling games. The class staged two important elections, which had smashing results! In our own Westwood High School Gallup Poll, we elected Richard Nixon president of the United States and Tim Killelea president of our class, with Richard Goutal and Fred Fiola to assist him. As the months sped by, we eagerly anticipated the following year at the high school. To end our freshman days, we held a Hawaiian luau dance and even published a yearbook, which we appropriately titled "One Down and Three To Go."

September, 1961—Crises in Berlin, Cuba, and Algeria didn't phase us sophomores, for we were too busy getting accustomed to our new surroundings at the high school. It was somewhat disconcerting to find one-way stairs, a Room 8 which wasn't between Rooms 7 and 9, and those confusing A-periods; but there were compensations, such as dances every week and real cold water in the bubblers.

After electing Robert Markarian our chief executive, Tim Killelea as second in command, Cheryl Zabilski as chief notetaker, and Rosemary Eosco as keeper of the exchequer, we held our first dance, "Harvest Moon," which, as W.H.S. dances go, was quite successful. Then Russia set off its 50 megaton bomb, and the world reverberated with talk of fallout shelters and ban-the-bomb. We sophomores reflected this tension in a lighter vein by naming our next dance the "Radiation Stomp" and decorated the cafeteria as a fallout shelter with a huge mushroom cloud of balloons.

September, 1962—The Cuban crisis, segregation, Telstar, wigs, and other news events were overshadowed by the year's biggest news sensation—the twist! We juniors, now sophisticated upperclassmen, chose the Peppermint Lounge, the nightclub which popularized the twist, as the theme for our first dance, renaming it the "Spearmint Lounge" to conform with our school colors.

Winter passed quickly and before we knew it, it was time to think of the prom. We selected Marc Scheele and Lisa Pearson as co-chairmen of this important event, which would be the first real test of our ability to work together as a class. Choosing "Moon River" as the theme, we had flower-making sessions two nights a week at Gwenda Whitley's where everyone worked industriously, most of the time. We were the first class to be faced with the insurmountable task of transforming the gym into a suitable prom site, but we easily overcame that problem—we just kept on making those flowers!

Urged on by nationwide Physical Fitness programs, our officers, John Morrison, Tim Killelea, Cheryl Zabilski, and Rosemary Eosco, apparently thinking we needed exercise to tone up our flabby muscles, organized a class bike trip to Blue Hills. Despite their efforts, most everyone cheated and went by car, but we had a great time anyway.

September, 1963—The most important event for us was that we had achieved senior status at last, with all its prestige and privileges, such as cutting in the lunch line in front of the underclassmen and marching into the assemblies while the rest of the student body stand respectfully, aware as we are that they tauntingly refer to us as "Zoo Parade."

Led by our officers, John Morrison, Chip Wayne, Cheryl Zabilski, and Rosemary Eosco, we started off the year with a "Roar—of '64," our first dance. We welcomed back Becky Brown after her summer in Austria and greeted Raewyl Baines, our A.F.S. student from Brisbane, Australia, the "Land Down Under." Her American sister for the year was to be Susan Wolloff. We held our last dance, the "Kangaroo Moon," in honor of "guess who?", presenting her with a stuffed kangaroo.

Our class play, "Pygmalion," was great fun for everyone involved, onstage and backstage, and brought enthusiastic praise but better still—revenue!

College boards, applications, interviews, science projects, and research papers kept us so busy that before we knew it the end of the year had arrived, bringing the long-awaited senior activities: the banquet, the class trip, baccalaureate, and class day.

As we look around us today, and in the future as we pour through the pages of this yearbook, reviving old memories, we will realize that our class has been successful in every field. Nineteen of our classmates were charter members of the newly formed National Honor Society, while acceptances were received from many fine colleges and universities. We were well represented in "District" and All-State concerts by our musical members throughout the years, while our athletes, both boys and girls, came out on, or near the top, in league standings in almost every sport.

Now we anticipate graduation, which will mark the end of this phase of our lives, and face the beginning of many new adventures and achievements. We wonder, as Westwood High School closes its door, if it ever will forget the roar of the Class of '64.

CLASS SONG

We are the ships that leave the quiet shore,
For distant ports which were not known before;
Or for some hazy, azure promised-land
While from the depths the surging swells expand,
Ere our wake, and every trace is gone.
We leave our memory only to live on.
Who knows what promise in the distance lies,
Bleak, rocky shores concealed by rosy skies;
Or, verdant isles enveloped in the mist.

Tempest-tossed, some ships will yaw and list,
Or drift serenely with the ebbing tide,
On sylvan mirrors—the ocean's kinder side.
Solaced in darkness by moon and Northern star,
Across the trackless seas, to ports afar—
Some hardy ships will chart the broad expanse.
Others—from shallow coves will ne'er advance.
Among the myriad routes we seek our own,
Though guided that we are, we sail alone.

—Ellen McAuliffe

CLASS POEM

Oh Westwood,
What thanks shall we offer for the wealth you have given us?
Hopefully we come to you.
Skeptically we entered your classrooms, but eagerly we learned.
Gradually you became a part of our lives.
And now, amid tears of joy and sorrow, thanks and regret,
Hesitantly we leave you, with fond memories of yesterday and a bright, shining hope for tomorrow.
In return for an education
We filled your halls with vitality.
You gave us Chaucer, Dickens, Shakespeare;
We gave you the Twist, the Monkey, the Beatles.

Your personality has many faces.
Beneath one roof we have eaten, studied,
dined.
The same walls which so often housed victory
have witnessed also our skills and our hoppiness.
You have answered our questions, guided our footsteps, filled our needs.
With a smile, surprise, an earnest glance,
We have written another chapter into your book.
Tomorrow we may look back proudly on a day,
a year, an era.
But today,
Our long journey comes to rest.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Ladies and gentlemen, this exclusive coverage at Rocketport (ROBERT) SJOSTEDT of the launching of the Rocket-ship Westwood-Ho, which will carry the first group of colonists to the moon, is being televised by MTBC, the MORRIS-TALLEY Broadcasting Company, in cooperation with the Secretary of Defense BRIAN GILMORE.

We have just received word from RONALD HAYES, Chief Countdown Controller, that the launching will be delayed because of excessive nervousness on the part of pilots JOHN RAMEY, JOHN BRADLEY, and KEVIN MACDONALD. We will use this opportunity to give you a summary of the lunar exploit to date. Since the famous expedition of (ROGER) POOR and (THOMAS) POND in 1975, scientists DOROTHY MAGUIRE, RICHARD MADONNA, and ROSEMARY EOSCO of the EDWARD L. FINDLEN Foundation have been designing a rocket capable of transporting an entire colony to the moon. Meanwhile, the two famous teams of (ROBERT) HILLS and (CHERYL) HICKS, and (JOHN) SWEENEY and (JUDY) SULLIVAN have been exploring and preparing areas for the first settlement. Among the unsung heroes and heroines of this project are dieticians BARBARA THOMPSON, MICHELLE GODDARD, and LINDA FUCCI, who have planned the daily moon diet of capsule nourishment, and doctors WARNER WAYNE, STEVE KREISER, and RONALD KELLEY, who have maintained constant records on the crew's health, especially after some of the wild farewell parties last weekend, with the help of their nurses JEAN FLOREK, KATHY McCRAVE, and NANCY CRAWLEY.

My secretaries EVELYN HOLDERRIED and ANNE LENNON have informed me that the President, GREGORY C. BEYER, Vice President, PAULA ANN GHIZ, Secretary of State, MARK B. DALINS, and the visiting Ambassador from Australia, RAEWYL BAINES, are approaching. They are flanked by Secret Service men BILL WHOOLEY, FRED FIOLA, and PETER FORD. Reporters KEVIN O'KANE and BETSEY BAKER from the (RALPH) TUCCILLO Tribune, and JANE HUBBARD, JUDY FOSTER, and KAREN ZODA from the (STEVEN) COOK Chronicle, and ELLEN MCAULIFFE and CAROL TALBOT, editors of the local scandal sheet, The Nahatan News along with our network cameramen CHERYL ZABILSKI, MARLENE DALINS, and BOB WORSNOP are surrounding the dignitaries.

We now take you to the launching pad where TERRY BOLSTER and his technical crew EDWARD MONAC, ALLAN ROBINSON, and RICHARD STETSON are making last minute adjustments for the flight, while the strong arms of CHARLIE HAERING, CARL DE VASTO, and JIM BOONE are loading provisions which have been inspected by health and safety officials MAXINE GLICKMAN, GLORIA KITSON, and TOM BEGLEY.

Meanwhile, technicians BOB BIRCH and BARRY CLOSE are completing the final check of all controls. Meteorologist STEPHEN GIGANTI reports from the (ROBERT) RITCEY Tower that the weather is clear. Pilots TERRY GALLAGHER and PAUL SMITH of the Sky Patrol have radioed in to confirm this report. Coming across the Admiral (TIM) KILLELEA Airstrip are two buses from the HARRINGTON Bus Service driven by BARBER SADLER and JANE BALESTRA, which are transporting the crew to the launching pad.

For many hours the large security fence erected by the (PAUL) BREEN and (WILLIAM) BROWN Construction Company has been lined with anxious spectators from all walks of life, including STEVEN WENTZELL, the prominent lawyer from (JUDY) CARLSON City. He is currently defending the nation's most infamous gangster (BILL) "Lefty" DOYLE and his right hand man "Potts," alias PAUL POTTER, against a charge of peddling cigarettes on the Black Market to JEAN RASCHKE and PAM SHAY, and the famous Broadway actress NANCY WALLACE. Nancy, by the way, is currently starring in (JANICE) RIPLEY and (SUSAN) BERGLUND'S production of The LAWRENCE CUNNINGHAM Case adapted from JOE MCCOY's best seller How To Succeed in High School Without Really Trying. We also talked with Harvard professor LINDSAY SHIPPEE and millionaire playboy CARL SMITH, who just conferred with Secretary of the Navy MARC SHEELE concerning terms for the purchase of a destroyer for his forthcoming Mediterranean cruise.

In order to fulfill our promise of complete coverage of this event, my partner will accompany the colonists on the flight.

Here we are aboard the ship preparing for launching. For months government experts JUDY MORRIS, JOAN DWYER, JERRY YAKEL, and DAVID GABRIELLI, under the supervision of JUDY BARBERA, have been screening candidates for this trip. They have chosen those whose knowledge will be most useful to the colony. For example, we have botanists JEAN TOLMAN, BARBARA NICHOLS, and SUSAN BEAL and zoologists ALICE CAMPAGNA, RAY WEILER, and ED CROAK, who will search the moon for traces of life. Geologists LINDA EMERSON, DOUGLAS COOPER, and STEVEN VENO, familiarly known as the '69ers from their discovery of gold in Boston in that year, will examine the terrain. They will coordinate their efforts with the Norfolk Aggie men DALE HOUSTON, BRIAN HYDE, and ALLAN DEAN. Other scientists will be astronomers FRED CERRONE, JOHN MORRISON, and JERRY HUGHES, who have been studying the stars intensely since their high school days. Keeping a photographic record will be the famous team of SUE MYETTE, ELAIN WOODING, and MARGARET E. CAMERON. To make the records complete, we have historians LOIS VAN DUSEN and CHRIS HASTEDT, and their stenographers ELAINE MOSLEY and KAREN STOESEL, from the (FRANCES) NOLAN School of Business.

The all-clear siren is now warning all personnel to evacuate the launching area. The last mechanic ROBERT EVANS has closed the hatch—our last physical contact with the earth. Seconds later, we hear a loud knocking on the outside of the hatch. Passengers JUDY THOMPSON and DIANNE WAKELIN rush to open it. A pair of boots is thrown to us by MAUREEN HURLEY, who has been ordered by Mrs. Hansen to be sure that PATTY (HANSEN) wears them on the flight! Soon the entire passenger compartment is again silent except for the sound of the countdown. The silence is broken by a sudden surge of power as we lift from the ground. As we rise above the clouds, I hear voices from the cockpit. Co-pilot JOHN WAPPEL is conversing with LESLIE TOWNSEND at the Admiral (JENS) THORSEN Tracking Station, while navigators PAUL JESSOE and KENNY HOYT calculate the accuracy of our path. A cheer from the enthusiastic passengers is led by the SWANSON twins (JOAN and JANET). Now that passengers can unfasten their safety straps, they are floating about the cabin. Newspaper reporter JULIE WENTZELL has become air sick and is being treated by Dr. ALLAN ZAGAMI, whose nurses SUSAN WOLLOFF, and SUSAN DEAN are keeping close watch on the rest of the colonists.

As the days pass, I am becoming acquainted with many passengers. Our day begins with an invigorating 40 pushups and 30 laps around the cabin led by physical instructors PAT BEAUMONT and MARGARET L. CAMERON followed by prayers for our recovery led by NOREEN O'LEARY. We are then quite ready to have our only meal of the day, which is prepared and served by BETTE SHANNING and JANET WHEELER and their assistants MAUREEN CONNELLY, LINDA HANSON, NANCY MOFFATT, and MARGARET ZIERGIBEL from Westwood's world famous elite restaurant, the Cafe Teria. The afternoon brings such entertainment as an impromptu concert under the direction of Maestro (BOB) MARKARIAN in which the passengers, such as engineers DAVID VIOLA and DENNIS MALKUNS and lab technicians GWEN WHITLEY and JUDY BURTT abandon their science to display their musical talents. Folk singers BECKY BROWN, RICKY LOTHROP, and LAURA OEHME are accompanied by the guitar trio of PAUL HOCHANADEL, GEORGE VAN FLEET, and DICK WASLEY for an occasional "Hoote-nany." The evening brings still more culture to the cabin when SUSAN LILLY and JANE ANDERSON give voice lessons to such aspiring amateurs as BILL SHEEHY and LOIS VEINOTTE. In another corner of the cabin, world renowned artist LISA PEARSON is painting a portrait of NANCY RUSSELL. However, at the end of the day, we are all glad to float back to our seats and receive pillows and gum from attractive TPA (Trans-Planet Airlines) stewardesses MARY KUHN, NANCY YOULDEN, SALLY LAWRENCE, and GAIL KITSON.

Having been in flight for 47 long days, we are impatiently awaiting the climactic landing. The anxiety is greatest among the builders and planners STEPHEN SIMCOCK, GEORGE RICHARDS, and ROD MORRISON and surveyors JIM MAC KENZIE, BRUCE PATTERSON, and LARRY VEGNANI, who do not begin their duties until our arrival. For a week we have been in contact with ROBERT PEDZEWICK and WESS KUSSMAUL in the control tower of our moon station. The remainder of the preliminary exploring party—BRAD GLASS, MARY ALICE WALKER, and JOHN GODFREY—is preparing for our arrival, which will be soon because we have just been told to prepare for landing. The cockpit door opens as mechanics RICHARD TOWNE, BRUCE YOULDEN, and DOUGLAS MC LEOD and crewmen ROBERT MORLEY and JOHN O'RILEY enter our cabin to check the safety of the passengers, while crewman RICHARD SANFORD supervises the landing apparatus. Crewman CHARLES STUBBART and KEVIN GRUETER are distributing oxygen masks as ordered by the ship's captain, LYNN SPARKS. Now that preparations are complete, time alone separates us from the moon. Now the surface features are becoming more definite. But, what is THIS! . . . rivers . . . valleys . . . cities . . . people! The previous explorer didn't mention any of this. I don't believe it! What have we done? The sign says "WELCOME TO WESTWOOD"!!

Curtain Call.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

In December, 1963, the senior class presented George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion. Adapted from an ancient myth, Pygmalion is a rather amusing account of a flower girl who passed as a duchess.

The fine performances given made this senior play as entertaining as its predecessors. All the long hours of work were evident in the final product. The play proved to be a success both financially as well as theatrically, and rewarding experience for the players. Shaw's Pygmalion was the basis for Lerner and Loew's musical hit My Fair Lady.

Junior Prom . . .

One of the hoppiest memories of our high school years was our Junior Prom, Moon River. Thanks to the efforts of co-chairmen Liso Pearson and Marc Sheele, the gym was magically transformed into a profusion of flowers and moonlight. The lovely queen, Janet Hyder, and king Jock McGuire sat beneath a bower of roses, surrounded by their court, Dorie Cheever, Lindo Hansen, Patricio Bolster, Bette Shonning, Susan Wolloff, and Ellen Diman. The storybook mood was carried over by the music of Mr. Monoghon and his orchestra, and the success of the entire evening was a reflection of the combined efforts of the junior class.

CLASSES

As another spring ends and fall approaches, juniors anticipate senior superiority. Freshmen and sophomores, too, move on to increased status.

Hopefully, the examples we have set, both in classes and outside activities will lead them on to great success. Certainly, memories of our underclassmen, an integral part of every school, will last forever.

JUNIORS

The Junior Class elected as their officers: President, Bill Holbrook; Vice President, Steve Hunt; Secretary, Gail Abernathy; Treasurer, Steve Evans. In November they had their first class dance of the year, "Monte Carlo," a great success. May saw one of the best Junior Proms, "Chansons d'Amour," that was ever given, our favorite farewell gift.

GREEN YEARS STAFF

Chosen early in November, the members of the staff have been diligently taking pictures, writing articles, selling, typing, and planning layouts, and working hard to meet the deadline. Under the direction of Mr. Flahive, they have strived to make this '64 yearbook a fitting, enjoyable remembrance of our high school years.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council consists of students representing all four classes. This year's President, Marc Scheele, worked hard for the Council and, aided by David Viola, Vice President; Rebecca Talley, Secretary; Susan Wolloff, Treasurer; planned a most successful Snowflake Frolic. Although the Council suffered the loss of its usual advisor, Miss Keenan, in December, Mr. Stack took charge and did an admirable job.

The chief source of revenue for the Council is the sale of book covers and the Frolic; this money provides for Westwood's A.F.S. Program. The Student Council ended the year with a spring banquet for all members.

NAHATAN NEWS

Under the skillful guidance of Mr. Hancox, the Nahatan News was published throughout the year. Always anxiously awaited, the popular school newspaper enjoyed high sales and enthusiasm with each publication. Led by editor Ellen McAuliffe, school news was efficiently and effectively brought before the eyes of the student body. The spirit shown by the entire staff was typical of the excitement of the newspaper media.

MAJORETTES

The '64 drum major, Maureen Hurley, co-captains, Cheryl Hicks and Bette Shanning, and trick twirler, Chris Martin have led the majorettes in their appealing and intricate routines at many pep rallies, parades, football games, and in competitions during the past year. Their combined efforts and favorable results are highly praiseworthy.

DRILL TEAM

Fine precision and interesting routines describe the performances of the Westwood High School drill team. Under the direction of Mr. Monaghan and the leadership of "Sarge" Laura Oehme, the drill team has marched at various rallies and games this year, much to the pleasure of all observers.

COLOR GUARD

The Color Guard led the band at games and in all marching occasions, proudly displaying both the American and school flags. Their routines were precisely and perfectly executed and were, in general, a fine example of the many hours of hard work that went into them.

The French Club, under the guidance of Miss Hemmings, has spent a very full season. Meetings were held at the homes of various club members; they proved an enjoyable and educational experience. Club activities were highlighted by the annual caroling and a French movie.

On January 22nd the Westwood Chapter of the National Honor Society was officially installed. Westwood boasts a total membership of fifty-five, twenty of which are seniors, and thirty-five junior members.

In February five representatives attended a Society conference at Natick to exchange ideas with members from neighboring towns.

Though still young, the Honor Society has many worthwhile plans, among them a tutoring service run by the members.

F.T.A.

Directed by Mrs. Grey, this year the Future Teachers of America has taken trips and heard lectures on the teaching of exceptional children. In addition to delving into the many phases of teaching, Future Teachers has provided the club members with much valuable information regarding college education for prospective teachers.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Throughout the year the driver education cars have become familiar sights to Westwood residents. Mr. Lyman and the other instructors not only teach the actual operation of a car, but stress the safety precautions taken by good drivers.

Enthusiastic Student Support

F.N.A.

Again this year, the Future Nurses Club has undertaken several projects to benefit worthy organizations. Under the leadership of Mrs. Cavanaugh, the girls in the club have visited many hospitals. In addition, some of the members have served as helpers and aides at a few of these hospitals. In June, the club members will receive their nursing pins, a highlight of the year.

CHESS CLUB

This year a new club has been formed at the High School. Directed by Mr. Beurman, the Chess Club has proved a rewarding opportunity for its members and promises to continue in its new-found success. The chess team participated in games with neighboring schools with great prowess.

DEBATING CLUB

Under the direction of Miss Jackson this year's debating club has enjoyed some interesting experiences. Specially scheduled inter-mural debates provided the club members with valuable practice. They also were able to attend several other debates and compare notes.

SPORTS

The thrills and challenges of sports have always been a beckoning call to the students of Westwood High School. Whether in varsity or junior varsity, the challenge has been encountered with great facility and dexterity.

Sportsmanship has become a distinguishing attribute of Westwood High School. In football, basketball, baseball, hockey, softball, track, tennis, golf, and field hockey good sportsmanship and enthusiasm have prevailed among both the participants and the spectators.

WOLVERINES SHOW PROMISE

Coach Reis makes his point.

This year's football team, under the guidance of their enthusiastic coach, Mr. Reis, had a final record of 3 wins, 6 loses. Though this may seem quite unimpressive, the realization that very few members played the year before improves it significantly. Bill Holbrook, a junior, showed outstanding skill, spirit, and sportsmanship. At the end of the season he won two trophies, one from the school and one from the Patriot Ledger. We are confident that the coming year will bring many more victories.

TRACK

Undeclared again last year, the track team, coached by Mr. Reis, hopes to keep up their outstanding record during the coming season. The team earned the honor of winning the title of the Dual County League champions, after having a season of 8 wins, no losses. The outstanding seniors on the team are Bruce Patterson, Marc Scheele, Steve Gigante, Ed Findlen, Bruce Yaulden, Jim McKenzie, Steven Wentzell, Dole Houston, Bob Peidzewick, John Sweeney, and Paul Potter.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Under the guidance of Mrs. Gordon, last year's girls' tennis team had a most rewarding season, winning half their games. This year with Mrs. Clancy coaching, and six members of the team, Maureen Hurley, Nancy Wallace, Jane Hubbard, Pam Shay, Debbie Pratt, and Dianne Stabler back, success is inevitable. The tennis team develops good sportsmanship in a game which still can be enjoyed later in life.

GOLF SCORE BOARD

Ending up the 1963 season with a 11-2 record, the golf team showed their outstanding abilities in becoming the runner up in the Duol County League. The top golfers were: John Brodley, who was undefeated; Ralph Tuccillo, who had only one loss; and Bill Whooley, who had only two losses in thirteen matches. With the experience and ability of the seniors on the team, all are looking forward to another good season this year.

CHEERLEADERS

This year the cheerleaders, led by Marilyn Begley and Marcia Rees, did a marvelous job in raising shouts of encouragement from the stands. Many football and basketball games, were highlighted by their enthusiasm. In many tight spots it was undoubtedly this combination of spirit and vitality that spurred our teams on to victory.

* It is a matter of common knowledge that a reputation for fine quality —

SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

* For that reason yearbook staffs at the leading educational institutions in the east engage the

WARREN KAY VANTINE STUDIO

for fine portraiture and a complete yearbook service.
